

Bucharest, 31 august 2020

INVITATION

SNCRR – Red Cross - district 5 Bucharest is implicated – for the first time – in international partnership, together with another 37 Partners, in a research project: „STAMINA: Demonstration of intelligent decision support for pandemic crisis prediction and management within and across European borders “, funded under the program “Horizon 2020 – the Framework Programme for Research and Innovation (2014-2020)” with a duration of 12 months , trough a multi-beneficiary grant agreement awarded by the European Union. The Partners within the STAMINA Consortium are nominated in the attached document.

In this capacity- we are very glad to invite you to express your participation agreement within the presentation Workshops- The project and the tools developed to support the fight against the pandemics.

STAMINA developes an intelligent toolkit that support the decisions within the pandemic management prediction and demonstrates its use by practitioners nationally and regionally within and across E.U. Borders. The STAMINA toolkit will help national planners and first responders to anticipate and to respond to " the unknown knows" ? in their daily effort to increase health security. The toolkit's main Functionality includes:

- Real-time web analysis and social media that targets the monitoring of the public's confidence and signaling the possible disease outbreaks.
- POCT and intelligent portable diagnostic devices for the first responding screening.
- Predictive modeling of the pandemic outbreak and its impact with the decision support in implementing mitigation strategies.
- early warning system
- Crisis management tool that defines the roles and actions of the key actors during the crisis management
- Scenario generating tool for creating the training scenario.

- Common operational image as the main interface of the solution allowing a coordinated and timely response.

The toolbox will be accompanied by a set of guidelines for the effective implementation of risk communication principles and best practices in preparedness and organizational response plans. The use of the STAMINA toolbox will be demonstrated by 12 small national and regional simulations(s) and a large-scale cross-border simulation exercise involving all consortium partners.

Your participation in the STAMINA project presentation and the developed tools is very important for establishing further positive results in the fight against pandemics, because you can help inform the general population and the major community players on how, using the innovative tools created, they can initiate comprehensive projects in their communities in the field of ensuring the safety and health of the individual. We believe that by your participation we can together strengthen a community that is aware of the importance of individual or institutional involvement in the fight against pandemics and which can thus bring about the changes needed in the current context.

We hope that you will honor our invitation. Please confirm your acceptance of your participation by sending a reply to your email address: crucearosie.sector.5@gmail.com, sector5@crucearosie.ro until 20.09.2020, with the mention: STAMINA confirmation.

We look forward to your confirmation. Thank you!

With consideration
